

The Final Battle for our Minds and Souls – AVATAR and the MAYAS

Upon posting last month's Director's Page, James Cameron's Avatar and the Mayan Tree of Life, my website came under viral attack. From what my web hoster said, Java code "showed up" on my site saying my site was viral. This does not come as a surprise to those of us who have been fighting for social justice, environmental justice, and the rights of the planet or to those who are mouthpieces during these final days.

Providing the "true" meaning of the movie Avatar, which James Cameron was likely censored from providing in great detail (he admitted that the studio asked him to tone the movie down), means that the final mystery to the entire pulse of our planet and the universe has been exposed and those in power are fighting to keep this information from getting out!

My message was way too powerful and threatening to those who want to interfere in the course of our planet and our civilization. Well, all I can say is, it's not nice to fool Mother Nature because despite man-made earthquakes, weather manipulation, and continual media lies and brainwashing, Mother Nature will have the last laugh and Earth will have to move forward, with or without those in power. In fact, those currently in power might try to escape the final mandate but since they've created the man-made crises on the planet, they will fall with them, whether they fall in bunkers on Earth or on Mars.

Yes, we are all connected and there is a collective consciousness that envelops the planet and all living beings from plants to the animal kingdom, to humans, to the quantum field inside and outside of us. That will not change although our biotechnology industry has been given free reign over our biology and chemistry. We do not need big Pharma to keep us well or alive. We have the capacity to treat ourselves and live long and fruitful lives, but you'd never know it watching commercial news. Doctors may want to heal us but Pharma wants to kill us or make us dependent on them for their own profit. All man-made biotech viruses, tech viruses, tech disasters, and wars are designed to kill us, maim us, or make us dependent on a very corrupt military/industrial complex that does not want us connected, functional, or empowered on any level. So any message of connectedness with a global brain is extremely threatening to them.

Be aware that we are fighting the last battle of the war. It is evident, at least in the U.S., that the corporate powers are launching their final battle to take over the world. They've already bought and paid for the U.S. Congress and the Supreme Court and now all that's left for them to do is stifle the life blood of free cooperative efforts and alternative markets or structures. Remain vigilant and know that we are connected, and with our quantum power we can move the planet to the next level of consciousness. Stay focused, be good Earth warriors, and don't give up. Plow through the rubble and don't let the bastards get you down. We are living in very tenuous but also exciting times because we are going to bear witness to a major shift and no one can stop it. All the dark side can try to do is frighten you and attempt to stop you from being focused on the next step. Remain vigilant and know that you are part of the solution.
