

The Writing on the Wall: Part 2 - Vatican Disclosure

Zecharia Sitchin is a Sumerian and Hebrew scholar who has translated key writings from Sumerian tablets and has published a series of books known as the Earth Chronicles. These books deal with the birth of our most recent civilization, starting in the Nile region, about 12,800 years ago, which is highly disputed by the historians and universities who have a vested interest in maintaining the status quo (See Director's Archives -The Writing on The Wall- Part 1). The chronicles talk about the inhabitants of a twelfth planet known as Nibiru, who were responsible for the creation of humans, or the Adam Kadmon, of whom we are descendents. This information fills in the gaps of our Hebrew bible, and allows us to understand the battles between two brothers, Enlil and Enki (in our bible these brothers are considered as one; benevolent and malevolent), and the continuing battles between their sons and daughters for dominion on Earth. These battles are responsible for many of the current conflicts in the middle east and even with our modern-day religions. According to Sitchin, Thoth -- the god of science, writing, mathematics, calendars and architecture -- was the brother of Ra and was banished from Egypt due to a power conflict that included power-brokering, jealousy, sacred numbers and calendars (some of which are still a source of contention, even between the Maya). He supposedly resettled in Central America, building a new civilization similar to that in Egypt. He has been called Quetzalcoatl and Kulkulkan by those in Central America, and according to Sitchin, the Mayans may well be one of the Lost Tribes of Israel.

During the Spanish Inquisition, the Vatican-supported Spanish army swept through the region, killed many indigenous tribes, burned sacred books, and destroyed structures and temples that held information pertinent to the origins and sacred teachings of these tribes. They forced the remaining tribes into indoctrinated submission, and replaced indigenous religion and practices with Catholicism and the Julian calendar, which was later replaced by the Gregorian calendar.

For hundreds of years Catholics, and later Baptists, imposed Christianity on Central and South America, and on Mexico. As a result, many of the indigenous tribes forgot their teachings, with the exception of such Mayan activists as Hunbatz Men and Jose Arquelles among a small group of others. They have fought to re-establish Mayan science, religion, culture, and the Mayan calendar system despite their own dispute over the start date of the Haab calendar (associated with Thoth).

In addition to burning sacred books in Central America, the Vatican was also responsible for the burning of texts in Alexandria, in the Northern part of Egypt, as well as those found in the Pyrenees at Rennes le Chateau, the home of the Knights of Templar. For years, the Vatican withheld many, more recently found sacred texts, and for fifty years would not release anything but very biased information on the Dead Sea Scrolls, interpreted only by Vatican scholars.

In the last five years, due to pressure from the outside and possibly pressure from those "above", the Vatican has started to "come clean" about some of their more notable black deeds. First they admitted that Galileo was right about the Sun not being the center of the universe (my, my, it only took them 375 years!).

Then they finally apologized for their role (or lack thereof) in the Spanish Inquisition, the Crusades, the Holocaust, as well as their violent treatment of indigenous people and women (remember the witch burnings!).

In the last two to four years, an even more remarkable occurrence has begun to manifest; the slow but sure leaking of an acknowledgment that "we are not alone". This has also coincided with the admittance to Jose Arquelles, who had a visit with the Pope, that the Mayan calendar is definitely a time table that is, if not more important, equally as important as the Gregorian calendar. I, personally have found no redeeming value for the Gregorian calendar other than its use to enslave society to a clock that controls our economy and western holidays, rather than the natural cycles of the earth, solar system and galaxy. Also, the entire history of Christ revolves around bogus dates. Additionally, with the added leap day, especially this year -- which the Vatican ruled must be used to correct the Gregorian calendar due to the precession of the equinoxes -- many people who showed up for important and Mayan-specific equinox events in the Yucatan were disappointed to find out that by following the dates on the Gregorian calendar, they missed the one-day solar event!

So, some of the more recent releases of information, though they should come as no surprise to many, are certainly outstanding acknowledgments by the Vatican that we may, indeed, be kin to extraterrestrials (While they have not quite gotten around to saying that, if you follow the rest of my thesis, you will understand what I mean). This is in consideration of the Vatican claiming for years that ETs were demons. Here is the lowdown on the more recent acknowledgments.

Some of you know my friend, Lena Jacobson. She is an engineer and technical writer who lives and works in the Silicon Valley. Recently, she was invited by Sitchin to be part of a small group to accompany him to Italy the end of March/early April of this year, where he was invited to speak at the International Convention on the Mystery of Human Existence in Bellaria (near Rimini). The convention was covered by local, national, and international news, and Zecharia Sitchin was interviewed by Italian national radio and television. The group was present at the interviews.

Another prominent part of this trip was the group's meetings with Monsignor Corrado Balducci, who works in the Papal offices of the Vatican and who was also a presenter at the convention. The Monsignor met with the group twice for lunch and discussions, at which time he answered questions about the Vatican's views on extraterrestrials. This was also the subject of his convention presentation!

The gist of the presentation to the group on these private occasions is remarkable and the details are expressed here. The presentation at the conference was shorter and less detailed and the Monsignor spent most of his time talking about demonology. He did acknowledge Sitchin as his friend as well as acknowledge his research. He almost completed his presentation without mentioning extraterrestrials, when the audience started hissing and booing. At that point he brought up the issue of extraterrestrials, with a quick speech acknowledging their presence and Sitchin's findings.

The Monsignor stated the Vatican's OFFICIAL position on extraterrestrials, which included the following. Some of the positions were stated in more detail during the group meetings with Sitchin as a result of the group asking for clarification.

- First, extraterrestrials have been taken off the Vatican's list of demons.
- Second, he IMPLICITLY (according to Lena) admitted that the Vatican is in agreement with Sitchin's findings (Note: if you have not read Sitchin, these findings are in regard to the twelfth planet called Nibiru, which NASA detected about fifteen years ago and calls Planet X, and to the regular extraterrestrial visitations on Earth by the Nibiruan inhabitants).
- Third, the Monsignor stated that these beings, who look like us (Note: who according to Sitchin's findings are our creators) have not only been on this planet since historical times, but have been here in recent times; that is, in our lifetime. (Note: You may recall some of the rumors that have circulated over the years about the Pope's extraterrestrial visitors).
- And last, but certainly not least, the Nibiruans will also be returning here VERY SOON, and thus, the Vatican needs to find a way to prepare the Christian community around the world if the Catholic Church wants to preserve its role in the life of the people. (Note: seems to me the preparation has little to do with preserving the church's role and more to do with how the Vatican can undo years of lies, as well as lessen the shock that will accompany a world-wide announcement).

In regard to getting a full disclosure of the truth behind ET visitations both in our biblical past and now, if you are Catholic I encourage you to confront your local Bishops for a full disclosure. This may be exactly the excuse the church is waiting for to allow their clergy to speak on the issue or more likely get versed on an issue that they have closeted for years.

In regard to visitations from ETs, the Mayans do not have special words to define UFOs and extraterrestrials as we define them, or as the Vatican now defines them. According to Hunbatz Men, the beings who we call extraterrestrials have always been part of Mayan consciousness, but are known as the Muxuls, or the ancient ones from LeMURia with knowledge of the end times. The word Xul is synonymous with the Hebrew word schul or school, which is a house where sacred knowledge is taught.

According to Hunbatz Men, a migration of ancient peoples with ancient knowledge occurred from Lemuria to Atlantis, to Egypt, to the Yucatan, and then to India. Of course the migration from Egypt may well have coincided with the ancient one, known as Thoth, immigrating to Central America after yet another religious war and consequential banishment, along with a group of his followers.

However, in regard to visitations, we face a problem here in the states that has encouraged equal censorship over the centuries. In the US, we view ourselves as the "most advanced" country in the world; thus, we have the most to lose in terms of our economic, religious, and scientific beliefs if our major institutions are to make similar disclosures. Of course, first our institutions must "come clean" themselves.

Any acknowledgments, let alone confirmation of ET activity, will raise CAIN within these communities. Obviously the creationists and Darwinists will have a hell-of-a-time dealing with this when they realize we were most likely genetically cloned, ruling out or actually combining both creationism and evolution! Maybe that's why ETs were on the Vatican's demonology list to begin with. They have been controlling us and we can't control them! While this has been theory all along, a disclosure by the Vatican makes it far more interesting!

Since the time that I sent out my email notification last week regarding the posting of this information for this Director's Page, I've received some very nasty mail. There are UFO debunkers out there who are screaming over this disclosure and of course, now will have to fight both the UFO and religious communities. Interestingly enough, while the religious community is trying to prepare for these visitations and fit them into a schema that can be understood by religious and spiritual people, there are hard-core Darwinists and Atheists who received my email and who were so outraged that they got very, very nasty. They won't acknowledge the existence of a "Monsignor Balducci" and believe he's a phony priest created by the Christian and UFO communities to try and indoctrinate more people into buying yet more religious and spiritual dogma. Of course, I too am skeptical of cut and dry, black and white information, and always believe that there is limitless gray matter to be explored, so I encourage you to use common sense in exploring the validity of this startling message if you were not already aware of it, starting first with your Bishops and local priests. Believing any information without question or analysis is dangerous, as many Christians have found out over the last five years (cult suicides, Vatican lies, etc.).

Regarding the response by creationists, I have not yet heard from any but they may not be the sort of people who would be interested in this website, or this information, unless someone purposely sent my email to them. However, as part of the religious community, maybe they'll be the first to come to terms with this issue to try to heal the wounds surrounding this breach in their faith. Of course, many in the mainstream scientific community will have problems dealing with this as well because they still haven't accepted the reality of quantum physics nor the scientific findings that time travel is plausible to bridge great distances. Thus, Newtonian physicists will have a hard time changing their thinking and humbling their huge egos. Regarding the Monsignor's briefing to the Sitchin group about preparing for a visitation very soon, there are many timetables that are available over the next twelve to twenty-four years in which this could possibly happen.

The Mayan Long Count Calendar end date (12/ 21/2012) points to the birth of a new age and the rebirth of Father Sun (Son), or Hunab Ku. Adrian Gilbert, co-author of both The Mayan Prophecies and The Orion Mystery, has written a new book (only available through Amazon.com in the UK) called Signs in the Sky, in which he has found information that astronomically calculates two succinct portal openings that coincide with the summer and winter solstices this year. The astronomical degrees of these solstice dates place both events on the Galactic plane in our heavens (which will be the case for many years to come), as well as places the winter solstice in conjunction with the galactic center (birth of the galaxy). He is preparing a tour to Egypt and Israel to visit special sites that, during this solstice period, will align with the portal opening. For additional information on this pilgrimage, contact Adrian Gilbert.

The links on the home page are to Monsignor Balducci's interviews and articles regarding the above disclosure and related issues. The Monsignor expressed these ideas originally on Italian national TV in '98, but then retracted his statements (only to renew them over the years and at the recent convention in Bellaria). There are also links to Sitchin interviews and articles. For additional information on Sitchin's Mayan writings, read The Lost Realms. For those of you who can keep an open mind during the coming shift (regardless of what the shift actually turns out to be), which has been prophesized by many cultures, religions, and supported by the findings of such scientists, engineers, and explorers as Gregg Braden, Adrian Gilbert, Robert Bauval, etc., I applaud you. I hope that you find the information on the Maya Mystery School site informative and come back again. To say the least, the next twelve years are going to be the most exciting in the last 12,000 years!
